

Here is the reason why the British Government says nothing about the shipping losses

Ever since June 1st, 1941, your Government has obstinately refused to give Parliament and the whole nation any information concerning the severe and daily increasing losses suffered on the Seven Seas by the British Merchant Navy. It knows that to be told the truth about the state of the battle on the seas would shake the belief of every Englishman in British naval supremacy and ultimate victory.

Read the following list carefully! Each name is that of a British ship sunk by German, Italian or Japanese U-boats, planes, warships or mines.

It is the first list — a small extract from the total shipping losses amounting to 29.1 million register tons — and it contains the names of 412 ships ascertained to have been sent to the bottom since June 1st, 1941.

Look out for the lists to follow!

Remember: this list contains only British losses and not Allied or neutral, American, Norwegian, Greek, etc.

Read it carefully!
